

Promoting the networking of women who work in the short term insurance industry in Gauteng, South Africa.

WOMEN 2 WOMEN

Women... under served by financial services sector?

Women have long been under served by the financial advisory sector - but this is now changing. Recent estimates suggest that a third of the world's private wealth is now in the hands of women.

Research from Boston Consulting suggests that this number could hit £54 trillion by 2020. This is the assessment of deVere Switzerland, part of one of the world's largest independent financial advisory organisations... Read more

Voice of Experience...

Amanda Hindlian, Managing Director at Goldman Sachs began her career as a semiconductor equity analyst in the Global Investment Research (GIR) Division at Goldman Sachs. She says the best careers sit at the intersection of what you are passionate about and what you are naturally good at... Read more

Raising financially empowered kids

Educating children on the value and consequences of money, as early as possible, can go a long way to preparing them for the real world. In a country with a poor savings record like South Africa... Read more

Look after your teeth to help prevent Alzheimer's disease

Scientists have found that bacteria involved in gum disease can travel throughout the body, exuding toxins connected with Alzheimer's disease, rheumatoid arthritis and aspiration pneumonia... Read more

Not losing yourself... in work or motherhood

Attending the needs of our children and responding to the demands of work may leave us with a sense of stripping us apart - especially when there can seem to be so many demands of both, often times appearing to be in conflict... Read more

The guilt of not getting things done

It happens to all of us: we do not get done what we hoped to get done, then we feel stressed or guilty about it. It is time to let that go, because it is not helping us. We can build resiliency around this, with a little mental training. And it will help us in magical ways... Read more

Legal Talk: requirements of a valid will

There are specific requirements a Will must comply with which are regulated by the Wills Act 7 of 1953. A person who cannot sign his/her Will, can sign it by making a thumbprint. If a thumbprint is used, the Will must be certified by a Commissioner of Oaths. The requirements for a valid Will are as follows... Read more
