Personal finance mistakes to avoid in your 20s

To help other young women become more financially independent from an early age, Nomi Bodlani, Head of Strategic Markets at Allan Gray, reflects on common personal finance and investment mistakes she made in her 20s. If you can avoid these, you can better position yourself for financial success in your 30s and beyond... Read more

GWII Mix n Mingle – Gardening Edition

Pulling out all the stops to bring members innovative new ideas to get them feeling positive and motivated for 2021, Gauteng Women in Insurance (GWII) hosted its first virtual Gardening Edition Mix & Mingle, proudly sponsored by Camargue. Guest speaker Claire Reid, Founder and CEO of Reel Gardening, shared some tips on the ins and outs of gardening... Read more

Women’s representation on corporate boards needs to improve drastically

Corporate boards are failing to take advantage of the value of female business leaders’ diverse perspectives and networks, despite a “vast, untapped pool of qualified and capable women”, says the report Women on South African boards: facts, fiction and forward thinking by the University of Stellenbosch Business School (USB)... 5 ways to increase income

One thing seems certain these days – the cost of living is increasing, but our wages and salaries just don’t seem to be keeping up. The cost of basic things like food, electricity, water, fuel and rent are causing many people to pull in their belts, or at least rethink their spending habits. Here are 5 ways to not just survive, but thrive, in today’s difficult economy... Read more

Reaching your goals

According to researcher Gabriele Oettingen, too much positive visualisation can have a demotivating effect: living in ‘fantasy’ and spending too much time visualising removes the impetus to take action. People who live in the clouds too much often end up stuck there. When you find yourself in dreamland for too long, wake up... Read more

The power of positive thinking

While we cannot control the pain and challenges life throws at us, we can control how we respond. Even when we feel helpless, we have a choice: are we going to let a negative event overwhelm us, or are we going to... Read more

Six networking mistakes women (and men) make

Networking is cited as the number one unwritten rule of success in business. It is a good part of what begins to separate the successful from the very successful on the second leg of your career and beyond. Here are the mistakes women (and men too) make... Read more

Legal Talk: You have been accused of an offence

There are certain notifications that can be sent to a person, who allegedly committed an offence ("the accused"), and it is of utmost importance to understand what these different notifications mean. These notifications will inform the accused of the charge made against him/her and that s/he has to appear in court on a certain date. Ignoring these notifications will... Read more
